

'Is the world going quants mad? Lessons from financial experts and history'

Tuesday, 5 June 2018 from 17:50 – 19:00 (followed by drinks reception)

To be held at the Church House Conference Centre, Westminster

TIME	ACTIVITY	PRESENTER
17:00-17:50	Arrival and registration
17:50	Opening Welcome	Dr Michael Oliver Senior Lecturer in Finance, The Open University Business School
18:00	Keynote speaker Imagination is more important than knowledge: street smarts vs book learning in financial markets	Dr Paul Wilmott Research, Consultant and Lecturer in Quantitative Finance
18:20	Keynote speaker What cannot be counted still counts: why an understanding of financial history is crucial for investors	Professor Russell Napier Co-Founder of ERIC (Electronic Research Interchange)
18:40	Q&A panel discussion	Facilitated by: Liz Moody Senior Lecturer, Executive Education, The Open University Business School
18:55	Summary	Dr Michael Oliver Senior Lecturer in Finance, The Open University Business School
19:00	MSc in Finance Student of the Year Award	Presented by Professor Janette Rutterford Professor of Personal Finance Capability, The Open University Business School
19:05	Drinks and canapés reception

#OU_MScFin @OUBSchool