

Jane Jones

Hello, I am Jane Jones, I am the Associate Dean Student Experience and I'm here today to tell you a little bit about what it's like to study at The Open University Business School.

The Open University Business School has over thirty years' experience in providing flexible personalised tuition support to its students.

We currently support over twenty thousand students who are studying with us worldwide, be that online and/or face-to-face provision.

Throughout your student journey you will be supported by a team of highly experience qualified tutors, who will work with you to bring the study material to life; to provide real examples of how to apply the theory that you're studying, and those tutors will also be on hand to mark your assignments and to provide critical feedback, which will enable you to improve your performance as you go through your study journey and qualification.

In addition, we also provide pastoral and specific information, advice and guidance services to students through a dedicated team who work with the Business School to provide faculty specific support to you. So if you have questions around your study intentions, what to do next or indeed want some help in getting back on track for example, your support will be available to you.

One of the key features of our approach to learning is that many of our students are in full-time or part-time roles and so have the opportunity to actually apply what they have been learning in practice straight away in the workplace. This has fantastic benefits - both for the students and for the organisations - with many FTSE 100 companies actually sponsoring students to study our courses.
